Presenting our 20th Season
Ticket Brochure!

Move Over, Mrs. Markham

- by John Chapman & Ray Cooney,
directed by Jay Newman

Oct 3 - 11, 2014

When Phillip Markham, loving husband and children's book publisher, agrees to allow his business partner to borrow his flat to romance his latest girlfriend – well, that's when everything goes topsy turvy as only a classic bedroom farce can and Morpheus Theatre's 20th season has officially begun. All Phillip really wants to do is take his wife out for the evening and the conundrums ensue as a parade of lovers begins to arrive to what they believe is an empty apartment, perfectly suited for their planned revelries. Cancelled plans, couples not expecting anyone else to be home and the unexpected arrival of a popular children's book author promise to delight, and don't worry, once you have your ticket booked that seat is yours, no one else will ask to borrow it.

Young Sherlock Holmes... and the Case of Dick Whittington's Cat

- by Craig Hewlett, directed by Sean Anderson

Dec 5 - 13, 2014

Elementary, Watson!...Whitsun? What's going on? It's Pantol Morpheus welcomes back this popular Christmas season tradition with classic characters of pantomime and fiction as everyone's favourite detective solves the mystery at hand – young Dick Whittington has disappeared! He was last seen wearing lipstick, fishnets and high-heeled boots? Holmes and Whitsun are on the case! Join us as we flip genders, boo the villain and rejoice in the antics of the saucy Dame, Maisie Luvaduck. A slosingly good time will be had by all. Case closed. Oh yes, it is!

I HATE HAMLET

- by Paul Rudnick, directed by Michelle Brandenburg

Jan. 23 - Feb 7, 2015

Andrew Rally, a television actor of some renown, is facing the role of a lifetime: William Shakespeare's, Hamlet. He is also learning the ropes of an abstinent relationship with his girlfriend and all while he has a houseguest. The ghost of John Barrymore, who used to live in Andrew's apartment, has moved back in, garbed as the broody prince of Denmark himself and he is not leaving until he has convinced Andrew to strut the stage and play the part. Seances and swordfights, love for his girlfriend and love for his fans; Andrew juggles it all while attempting to make this life changing decision. Something is wildly entertaining in the Pumhouse Theatre in January of 2015 and we hope you'll join us!

RUDDIGORE

Ruddigore - by Gilbert & Sullivan, directed by Dale Hlrlehey

April 17 - May 2, 2015

Written just after The Mikado, this comic operetta from Gilbert and Sullivan brings more spectres and spooky, musical fun to wrap up our 20th season. As only they can, Gilbert and Sullivan parody melodrama while at the same time employing some of its classic elements – a poor and virtuous heroine, a villain who steals her away, heroes and faithful friends. And we mustn't forget the ghosts who live in the family portraits. Hidden identities, courtship gone awry and a good old fashioned family curse showcase such songs as "In sailing o'er life's ocean wide", "When I'm a bad Bart, I will tell taradiddles" and "When a man has been a naughty baronet". So don't risk being moody and sad, make sure you have your tickets to Morpheus Theatre's 20th season Gilbert and Sullivan operetta.
